Origin of the Scotts of Scot's Hall.

The ancient and knightly family of Scott of Scot's Hall, at Brabourne and consequently at Smeeth, both in the County of Kent, claim to be lineal descendants and representatives of the ancient, but now ~~inname~~ extinct Norman family of Salioi and through them of the Kings of Scotland of Malcolm's line.

Arms, de Scot: Argent, three Catherine wheels, sable a bordure gules.

 Arms, de Cumbe: Sable, three lions passant, guardant in pale gules.

SCOTT

Sir John Scott, Knight of Scot's Hall, eldest son and heir of Sir William Scott, Knight of the King's Body-guard.

Sir John Scott was Sheriff of Kent in 1520 and knighted, circa 1520, by the Prince of Castile for signal services rendered against the Duke of Guelders. Sir John Scott like his immediate ancestors at Scot's Hall was by profession a soldier. This circumstance may be partly attributed to the fact of his family holding so many manors in Capite of the King by knight's service, especially that of Brabourne by watch and ward of Dover Castle. He was with his father in France and probably gained his spurs on the occasion when Charles the Emperor of Germany and Prince of Castile and Austria, in return for the assistance rendered him in men and arms by Henry VIII, paid a complimentary visit to Henry landing at Hythe in the month of May 1520, previously to the famous interview between these monarchs and the French King Francis, on the Field of the Cloth of Gold. Sir John was appointed to attend the King and Queen at the interview with Francis I, at the Field of the Cloth of Gold and was there with his father, with whom in a year or so following, viz on May 24, 1522 together etc. Sir John Scott died before 1524.

Mary, the daughter of Sir Bryan Tuke, Knight, second wife to Sir Reginald Scott of Scot's Hall.

Arms: Tuke, Per fess dancettee, azure and gules, three lions passant guardant.

Sir Bryan Tuke of the family of Tuke or Tooke of Lower Marney in Essex, originally from Nottinghamshire, held various offices and appointments during the reign of Henry VIII. He appears to have been firstly, Secretary of Cardinal Woolsey and afterwards a Groom of the Chamber, in 1539 at the reception of the Lady Anne of Cleves at Dover; Master of the Postes, Treasurer of the King's Chamber, Master of the Jewell House and finally Ambassador to France with Bishop Tunstal. Leland describes him a "Anglice lingue eloquentis mirificus".

There are many letters amongst the State records from Sir Bryan Tuke, whilst engaged as Secretary to Cardinal Woolsey

from BORDER ANTIQUITIES By SCOTT

The Scotts and the Murrys were ancient enemies, their possessions joined each other in the Scottish marches. In the 17th century the greater part of the Scott property lying on the river Ettrick, This SCOTT called SCOTT of Harden., who made his principal residence at Oakwood Tower a border house of strength, still remaining upon that river.

WILLIAM SCOTT (later Sir William SCOTT) son of the head of this family undertook an expedition against the Murrys of Elibank whose property lay but a few miles distant. He found his enemy already warned of his approach, so he was made prisoner, while driving off the Murrey cattle. Sir Gideon Murray conducted the prisoner to the castle where his lady awaited in great happiness to congratulate him. She asked him what he intended to do with his prisoner. "The Gallows" answered Sir Gideon. "Hout na Sir Gideon" answered the lady "would you hang the windome Laird of Harden when you have three ill favored daughters to marry?" "Right" answered Sir Gideon "he shall marry Mickle-mouth Meg for it" Her correct name was Agnes. The young Laird of Harden refused until he was on his way to the gallows. Then seeing no other chance of escape he gave in. 'Tis needless to say he and his lady were very happy and raised a large family of children to each of whom Sir William SCOTT bequeathed large estates besides leaving the largest to the eldest son. These were 1 Sir William Scott of Harden 2d Sir Gideon SCOTT of High Chester whose

Genealogy of the Scotts of Caroline, Prince Edward, Campbell, Bedford and Amherst Counties, Virginia.

By Rev. S.O. Southall, Dec.

Perhaps it is well to state that there ~~were~~ some five or six James Scotts in Amelia and Prince Edward Counties near the same time (that is before Prince Edward was cut off of Amelia). Then they were:

1. Dr. James Scott, who bought land on Beaver Pond or Flat Creek.
2. James Southall-Scott, of Hanover, who bought on Snail and Camp Creek.
3. James Scott, who, prior to 1757, marries Grizzo.
4. James Scott, son of Thomas Scott of Gloucester.
5. James Scott, Son Thomas Scott of Caroline, on Mountain Creek in 1778.

There is no trouble with 1, 2, and 3. They came here earlier, are in different parts of the country - but with Nos. 4 and 5. Were the last two kin? It is certainly very peculiar that people with the same name and having parents of the same name should have a common impulse to come to Prince Edward. There is, however, no evidence that they are kin. They, ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ in some instances, intermarried, and it seems some should have claimed ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ the relationship if there were any.

However, some have made the mistake of mixing them up, as did Mrs. Blakenburg in her History of Locketts, she did not know anything of the other James Scotts. There is no difficulty if you know all the facts.

The record, the birth of James Scott, is missing from the old Scott Bible of 1715; but it is known that he had his origin in the Highlands of Scotland, and that his people belong to the Clan McGregor.

He was the progenitor of the Scott Families of Caroline, Prince Edward, Campbell, Bedford and Amherst Counties of Virginia. He and his son Thomas, bought large tracts of land from royal Governors of the Colony of Virginia and were among the early settlers. He married. Note the record of his wife is also missing, all his children except Thomas and his family. The following record is all that remains and I certify that I have copied it faithfully.

In another part of the Bible in a totally different handwriting are recorded the births of some slaves. They must have been recorded by James Scott, for Thomas Scott, born in 1718, was only 4 years old when the record. began. They are ancurio in these days. In the curios record on the other page, the handwriting changed in the 13th line. Someone else thakes up the pen and the old-fashioned "ye" for "The" is given up. It is the same handwriting as that of the will, I dare say that the son took it up where the father left off. The writing is older and more faded than that of the will, which was not written until 1773. The Bible was printed at Oxford, England, in 1715 and this is 1894. It is very large. It contains, besides Old and New Testaments, the Psalms and the Apocrapha and the Prayer Book. One back is gone and many leaves. Looks as if they fought with it during the Revolutionary war, but the scotts were too good Episcopalians for that Anyhow, we shall take good care of what is left

The above was sent to me by W.R. Scott, of Rensens, Virginia. He also sent me the following will of Thomas Scott, of Caroline County, Virginia

The Will of Thomas Scott, of Caroline

In the name of God Amen. I Thomas Scott of the County of Caroline and St. Margaret's Parish being in good health and perfect and sound mind and memory and calling to mind the certainty of death, do make and ordain this last will and Testament in and forever following:

Item I give to my son Rice Scott the tract of land, whereon he now lives lying in Prince Edward County Containing by estimation one thousand acres to him and his heirs forever. Likewise six Negro slaves, vizt. one man named Crupper, one yellow man named Glesgow, one man named Dick, one boy named John, one boy named Shepherd and one woman named Dol and her in future increase, and all the stock and household goods which he has already received and hath now in possession to him and his heirs or assignees forever.

Item. I give to my son John Scott Seventy pounds current money of Virginia which is to pay the ballance now due for the land whereon he now lives, laying in the county of Amherst, which money is to be raised out of my estate after my death and payed to my son John Scott his heirs or assignees if I do not advance it to him before. Likewise the six negroes following vizt. one man named Admiral, one man named Harry, one Woman named Mol, one woman named Black Lucy, one girl named Zenas, and one girl named Bett with all their future increase. Likewise all the stock and household goods which he has already received and hath in his possession to him and his heirs or assignees forever. It is my will and desire that unless my son John return to me before my death- immediately after to my son William on being informed of this clause of my will, a negro girl named

Charlotte which I lend to my son John and had given her before to my son William in ~~xxxxxxx~~ presence of John Wiley, Jun. (unless the girl depart this life before me) then my son William shall receive of my estate the seventy pounds which is herein mentioned and bequeathed to my son John to enable him to pay for his land, Likewise the two negroes which I herein bequeath to my son John; which are as follows one man named Harry, and one woman named Mol, which said sum of Seventy Pounds shall be to my son William, his heirs or assignees forever in lieu of the said negro girl named Charlotte now in Possession of my son John Scott, provided she is not returned according to this my last will and desire.

Item I give to my son (Rice)? (Name is omitted in Mr. S's. copy) six negro slaves hereafter mentioned vizt. one named Caroline, one man named Bristoe, one woman named Patt, one boy named Harry, one woman named Gill, and a girl named Nance and their increase. Likewise six head of cattle and all the household goods and furniture he has received of me and hath now in his possession to him and his heirs or assignees forever.

(Here is writing in the will which was partly erased by drawing a pen across the paper. Here it is:)

As I have all ready to my son Thomas Scott advanced ye sum of 300 pounds I cannot give him any land and my desire is that nothing of my estate but what I have already given him. (That is about what was written and then was erased.)

Item. I give my son James Scott the tract of land whereon he now lives which I purchased of John Bagbee laying in Prince Edward County, containing by estimation 400 acres to him and his heirs or assignees forever. Likewise 6 negroes vizt. hereafter mentioned. Boy named James a man named David, a woman named Daphney, and another named Phillis, a man named John and a woman named Hannah.

Item I give to my son Samuel Scott negroes hereafter mentioned. Vizt. one boy named Hunter. one woman named Sander. man called vizt. one man named Crupper, one yellow man named Glesgow, one man named Dick, one boy named John, one boy named Shepherd and one woman named Dol and her in future increase, and all the stock and household goods which he has already received and hath now in possession to him and his heirs or assignees forever.

Item. I give to my son John Scott Seventy pounds current money of Virginia which is to pay the ballance now due for the land whereon he now lives, laying in the county of Amherst, which money is to be raised out of my estate after my death and payed to my son John Scott his heirs or assignees if I do not advance it to him before. N.B. or to this my will is added as James Gatewood brought suit against me since I have this will wrote, it is my desire that should he recover more than is herein bequeathed to my daughter Frances, which he married, that all I have hereiny given her and likewise waht I have given my Grandaughter Martha Gatewood and my account for sundry articles delivered to my said daughter and her husband James Gatewood shall be discounted out of the sum he receive by ye said suit if it amount to more than I have given him.

will gave the appearance of its age and it or a copy written at or nearly at the time of the will.

Mr. Williams Rice Scott, of Resen, also says, "The old family Bible is supposed to be in the hands of Mrs. Florence Henry, of New York. She was the daughter of Re^d. Hugh Roy Scott. My Cousin whose wife was Mrs. A.M. Scott who copied out of the old Bible for me. They are both dead now, and I suppose the daughter has the Bible. My grandfather, William Scott, was the 5th son of Thomas and Martha Scott. I got all my information from my Grandmother Scott, who raised me. I am now (1903) in my 76th year."

On Sept. 1st 1778, Thomas Scott of Caroline deeded to his son James Scott of Prince Edward, the 400 acres of land he bought of John Bagby in Prince Edward County.

The Scotts of Caroline and the Scotts of Gloucester seem in some way to have some connection. The tradition in both seems to show they have. The Clan can be heard among both. The names Sinclair, Thomas and James are the most used in both. They seem to have the same impulse to move to Prince Edward nearly at the same time, but on the otherhand they intermarried and that might have accounted for the same tradition.

I am now not concerned with the Gloucester Scotts, more than to kee the two families apart, and this is almost impossible - and if there is any doubt I shall omit the name.

The tradition among the Caroline Scotts is that they had their origin in the Highlands of Scotland, and belong to the Clan McGregor and that two Scotts came to America and that Thomas Scott son of James Scott b. in St. Margarets Parish, Caroline Co., Va. the 15th day of June, 1718, m. on the 2nd Nov. 1742, Martha Williams, daughter of Rice Williams. and Frances. his wife.

SCOTTS.

from BORDER ANTIQUITIES By SCOTT

The Scotts and the Murrys were ancient enemies, their possessions joined each other in the Scottish marshes. In the 17th century the greater part of the Scott property lying on the river Ettrick, This SCOTT called SCOTT of Harden., who made his principal residence at Oakwood Tower a border house of strength still remaining upon that river.

WILLIAM SCOTT (later Sir William SCOTT) son of the head of this family undertook an expedition against the Murrys of Elibank whose property lay but a few miles distant. He found his enemy already warned of his approach, so he was made prisoner, while driving off the Murrey cattle. Sir Gideon Murray conducted the prisoner to the castle where his lady awaited in great happiness to congratulate him. She asked him what he intended to do with his prisoner. "The Gallows" answered Sir Gideon "Hout na Sir Gideon" answered the lady "would you hang the windome Laird of Harden when you have three ill favored daughters to marry?" "Right" answered Sir Gideon "he shall marry Mickle-mouth Meg for it" Her correct name was Agnes. The young Laird of Harden refused until he was on his way to the gallows. Then seeing no other chance of escape he gave in. 'Tis needless to say he and his lady were very happy and raised a large family of children to each of whom Sir William SCOTT bequeathed large estates besides leaving the largest to the eldest son. These were 1 Sir William Scott of Harden 2d Sir Gideon SCOTT of High Chester whose

Sir John Scott, Knight of Scot's Hall, eldest son and heir of Sir William Scott, Knight of the King's Body-guard.

Sir John Scott was Sheriff of Kent in 1520 and knighted, circa 1520, by the Prince of Castile for signal services rendered against the Duke of Guelders. Sir John Scott like his immediate ancestors at Scot's Hall was by profession a soldier. This circumstance may be partly attributed to the fact of his family holding so many manors in Capite of the King by knight's service, especially that of Brabourne by watch and ward of Dover Castle. He was with his father in France and probably gained his spurs on the occasion when Charles the Emperor of Germany and Prince of Castile and Austria, in return for the assistance rendered him in men and arms by Henry VIII, paid a complimentary visit to Henry landing at Hythe in the month of May 1520, previously to the famous interview between these monarchs and the French King Francis, on the Field of the Cloth of Gold. Sir John was appointed to attend the King and Queen at the interview with Francis I, at the Field of the Cloth of Gold and was there with his father, with whom in a year or so following, viz on May 24, 1522 together etc.

Sir John Scott died before 1564.

Mary, the daughter of Sir Bryan Tuke, Knight, second wife to Sir Reginald Scott of Scot's Hall.

Arms: Tuke, Per fess dancettee, azure and gules, three lions passant guardant.

Sir Bryan Tuke of the family of Tuke or Tooke of Lower Marney in Essex, originally from Nottinghamshire, held various offices and appointments during the reign of Henry VIII. He appears to have been firstly, Secretary of Cardinal Woolsey and afterwards a Groom of the Chamber, in 1539 at the reception of the Lady Anne of Cleves at Dover; Master of the Postes, Treasurer of the King's Chamber, Master of the Jewell House and finally Ambassador to France with Bishop Tunstal. Leland describes him a "Anglice lingue eloquentia mirificus".

There are many letters amongst the State records from Sir Bryan Tuke, whilst engaged as Secretary to Cardinal Woolsey
